Changing your fund choice

Dear Sir or Madam

Thanks for letting us know that the planholder wants to make some fund changes.

- We've enclosed information about the available fund change options.
- If the planholder decides to go ahead, please complete and return the enclosed form.
- Once we have everything we need, we'll complete the investment change and send you confirmation.

Important notes

- The planholder is allowed to invest in up to 20 funds at any one time.
- We don't currently charge for changing funds on this plan.
- There are conditions that apply to fund changes like these, mainly to do with dates and unit prices. We need to receive completed instructions before we can make the change. If any information is missing or unclear, we'll let you know.
- We'll carry out switches using the appropriate price, based on when we receive the planholder's correctly completed instruction, and the rules defined by their plan conditions. The only exception is when there are unusual investment conditions that affect the Fund Manager's ability to sell the assets of a fund quickly or for a fair price. If this happens, we may delay switches out of that fund to protect the interests of customers who would like to remain invested. We'll let you know if this applies.

Important information about the With-Profits Fund

Final Bonus

When money is removed from the With-Profits Fund, we may add a Final Bonus. We calculate the Final Bonus based on the period the investment has been held continuously in the With-Profits Fund and the performance of the fund over that time. The Final Bonus amount can go up or down at any time and is not guaranteed.

Market Value Reduction

A Market Value Reduction (MVR) is an amount we might deduct when money is withdrawn from the With-Profits Fund. We would do this if the value of the underlying assets of the fund is less than the value of the plan (including bonuses).

An MVR ensures that planholders who take money out receive a return based on the performance of the fund over the period they were invested. It protects planholders who leave their money invested and is our way of being fair to all of our With-Profits investors. For further details, please see our leaflet 'Market Value Reduction – A clear explanation'. You can obtain a copy from our website at pru.co.uk or by contacting us.

How we manage With-Profits investments

We've produced a detailed document called the 'Principles and Practices of Financial Management' (PPFM) which describes how we manage With-Profits investments. Our standard PPFM and product-specific, customer friendly PPFMs are available on our website at pru.co.uk/with-profits. If you'd rather have a written copy, please call us.

Our Directors' report shows how we've complied with these principles and practices. You can find this along with our most recent With-Profits Actuary's Report on our website. You'll also find a summary of notable changes we've made in the past or any notable changes we plan to make to the PPFM. If you'd like a written copy, give us a call.

Next steps – what you need to do now

1. Please complete and return the enclosed form to Prudential, Lancing, BN15 8GB. We need the original form, and faxed or emailed requests won't be accepted.
2. The switch form must be signed by the legal owner/s of the policy.
3. Once we have everything we need – and providing switch delays don't apply – we'll complete the investment change and send you confirmation.
4. We can't accept responsibility for forms that are lost or delayed in the post. Please contact us if you haven't received a response 10 working days after you returned the switch form.

Market Value Reduction

A clear explanation

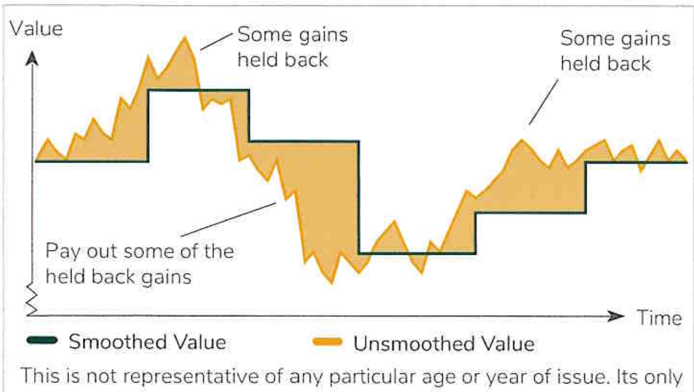
What's a Market Value Reduction?

If you withdraw or switch money from a with-profits fund, you may get less than the value of your plan as shown on the last policy statement we sent you. This is so that we can make sure everyone invested in a with-profits fund gets a fair share of the profits. We call this a Market Value Reduction (MVR), as what we'll pay out is based on the underlying market value of the investments.

How a with-profits fund works

Instead of paying you direct returns (such as dividends), a with-profits fund typically pays you a share of its profits via bonuses that are added to the value of your plan.

In deciding how much a bonus should be, we use a process called 'smoothing'. This means when the value of investments goes up, we may hold back some of the money we would otherwise pay to investors in their bonuses. As a result, when the value of investments goes down, it's more likely we will still be able to pay bonuses. This 'smoothes' the impact on your returns of sharp rises and falls in the market.



This is not representative of any particular age or year of issue. Its only aim is to explain how smoothing works.

Why we sometimes apply an MVR to a with-profits fund

The prices of assets traded on financial markets usually move up or down a bit every day. But sometimes, there can be a very sharp fall in the markets – such as during the COVID-19 Pandemic.

If lots of investors pull their money out of a with-profits fund after a sharp fall in its value, there's a risk they could get an unfairly large share of the fund's profits. This would leave remaining investors worse off. So, an MVR protects investors who aren't taking their money out, and means that you get a return based on the earnings of the with-profits fund over the period your payments have been invested.

So, if you tell us you want to make a withdrawal or a transfer from a with-profits fund, we might decide to apply an MVR to your transaction. This means you'll get less than the value of your plan, as shown in your last statement.

An MVR means we can be fair to all investors

The money the MVR holds back from your withdrawal or transfer doesn't go to us. Instead, it's kept in the fund, where it's used to protect those who remain invested. An MVR aims to balance returns for investors who stay in the fund with those who leave.

For example:

Imagine that five investors all have equal, £10,000 stakes in a single fund worth £50,000.

The value of the fund falls by 20%, and it is now worth £40,000. One investor, Angela, decides to leave, but her stake isn't adjusted to allow for the recent fall in value. She gets £10,000.

The remaining £30,000 is divided between the four investors who stay in the fund – so they're down to £7,500 each.

An MVR applied to Angela's withdrawal, resulting in Angela being paid £8,000 might have felt unfair to her. But it would have been the fairest thing to everyone with a stake in the fund.

When an MVR will apply to your transaction

We apply MVRs on a case-by-case basis. We may decide to apply an MVR if:

- the value of your plan is greater than the value of the assets your money is invested in and you do one of the following:

- switch into another investment fund (including between with-profits funds)
- cash in or transfer your plan
- take early or late retirement
- take a full or partial withdrawal from your plan (if allowed)
- pay adviser charges from a with-profits fund
- take certain regular withdrawals.

We may change our MVR practice at any time without giving prior notice. For example, it may be altered if there's a significant reduction in the value of the investment markets in which our with-profits funds invest, or if there's a significant increase in the number of people wanting to cash-in their with-profits investments.

If we make a change to our current practice, it would apply to all new plans and existing plans in place at the time of the change.

How an MVR will affect the value of your transaction

An MVR isn't a fixed amount. The reduction will depend on:

- how much your plan is worth, including any bonuses that have been applied to it
- the performance of the with-profits fund over the time you've been invested in it.

When an MVR will not apply to your transaction

You'll only be affected by an MVR if you want to withdraw or transfer your money. Otherwise, it won't affect you. We also guarantee not to apply an MVR:

- if the investor has died
- at the selected/normal retirement date of a pension plan
- at the anticipated annuitisation age of a relevant income drawdown plan
- at the maturity of an endowment plan.
