Notes

- In the event of a claim, the current plan value will be re-valued using the current fund prices. The price of units can go down as well as up. This shows the current unit value of this plan at today's date. This is for information only. In the event of a claim we will calculate the value of the plan in accordance with the plan provisions and HMRC regulations.

- We do not hold details of periods of contracted out employment, any former protected rights would have been allocated as non-protected rights.
- Transfer of the plan or claiming UFPLS may result in any right to a protected tax free lump sum or protected pension age being lost.
- Fund Switches – Members can email, post or call us with the required fund switches and we will action this process. Alternatively, fund switch can be done online by login into the account.
- We do not offer annuity options directly. If the member would like to purchase an annuity, we have an independent annuity broking service which will be able to search the open market for them. If you would like more information on this, please let us know.
- Please note we are only able to generate an up to date illustration based on the current data we hold for the member. By way of explanation, changes to the member's Selected Retirement Age could impact any present or future 'Lifestyle' arrangements, and changes to the member's contribution rates could affect their allocation of pension contributions when the scheme runs payroll. Should the member wish to change their Selected Retirement Age, we would require authorisation from them; any changes to contributions need to come from the employer.

'Cost of investment' may also be referred to as 'Total Annual Fund Charge'.

* Lifestyle option

These investments are part of a lifestyle option that will be rebalanced from time to time, as explained in the 'Investment guide' - this will affect the investment charges you pay.

Yearly Scottish Widows fund based charge

We take a fund based charge calculated on the value of each of your investments. The charge is calculated daily and taken each month by selling units or shares held in line with the disinvestment strategy outlined below.

AMC - Annual management charge

This is a charge applied by fund managers to cover the cost of investment management and administration. The charge is deducted from the fund every day before unit prices are calculated.

Fund expenses

These are deducted from the funds before the unit prices are calculated. They are additional expenses in the day-to-day management of the funds' activities and include expenses, taxes, duties and other charges incurred in the purchase, sale, valuation and maintenance of the investments as well as auditors' and custodians' fees.

Fund expenses are not fixed. The figures shown are estimates based on what the fund expense has been in the past. The actual expense could be more or less than this.

Total expense ratio

This is the total of the fund expenses and the annual management charge less the annual management charge rebate.

Cost of investment

This is the total of the yearly Scottish Widows fund based charge, Intermediary charges and total expense ratio.

'Cost of investment' may also be referred to as 'Total Annual Fund Charge'.

Disinvestment strategy

Although charges are calculated based on the value of individual investments, the actual charge is taken from your investments in a specified order. Charges will be taken from cash held in your account then, if there isn't enough cash to cover the charges, from the least volatile fund you are invested in.

This is an illustration of what you might get back from your plan. The amounts shown are not guaranteed.

Who does the plan cover?

Member	[REDACTED]
Age	69
Selected pension age	75
Selected pension date	7 June 2031

What is the plan value?

The value of your funds as at 24 September 2025 is £211.32.

What might you get back?

The following table shows the value of what you might get back at age 75 based on fund specific growth rates. Because over time inflation will reduce what money can buy, we've illustrated the value of your plan after taking account of inflation of 2.0% each year. In other words the amounts shown are equivalent to what they would be worth today.

Your total retirement benefits after inflation

If your pension funds grow at	-0.3% after inflation	2.7% after inflation	5.7% after inflation
your total fund value could be equivalent to	£204	£242	£285
	today	today	today
which could give you a pension equivalent to a yearly income today of	£16	£22	£30
or, a tax-free cash lump sum equivalent to	£51	£60	£71
You can normally take up to 25% as a tax-free cash lump sum, the tax-free cash lump sums stated above assume a rate of 25%. This does not take into account any protection you may have or your available Lump Sum Allowance (LSA) and Lump Sum and Death Benefit Allowance (LSDBA). For more information, please refer to 'A guide to pension tax' on your Scheme website.
plus a smaller pension equivalent to a yearly income today of	£12	£16	£22

We've assumed that:

- your pension will be paid monthly in advance for your lifetime
- the pension will continue to be paid for 5 years from when you start taking it if you die within this period.

Please note:

- these figures are only examples and aren't guaranteed - they're not minimum or maximum amounts. Your retirement fund depends on how your investment grows and the tax treatment of the investment
- your retirement fund could be more or less than this
- your pension income will depend on how your investment grows and annuity rates at the time that you retire.
- To help keep track of your plan, we'll send you a statement each year.

What are the charges?

The investment charges information document contains information about current charges that apply. Please note that any of the charges may change in the future.

How the charges reduce the growth of your pension fund

All pension providers give this information to help you compare their charges.

Below we show the effect of our charges on the assumed growth rate shown. The growth rate could turn out to be less than this and you may get back less than you paid in.

How charges reduce the value of your pension fund

Because over time inflation will reduce what money can buy, we've illustrated the payments and value of your plan after taking account of inflation of 2.0% each year. In other words the amounts at the end of each year are equivalent to what they would be worth today.

The fourth column shows how our charges can reduce the value of your fund and also illustrates what you could transfer to another pension plan.

The projected values below include the current value of your fund which, at the date of illustration, was £211.32.

If your funds grow by 2.7% after inflation

At the end of year	Total payments in today's value	Before any charges are taken	After all charges are taken
1	£0	£217	£216
3	£0	£229	£227
5	£0	£242	£238
At age 75	£0	£246	£242

How charges can reduce the growth rate of your fund

The reduction in the plan value from £246 before charges to:

- £242 means that after taking account of all charges, it reduces the growth rate down from 2.7% after inflation to 2.4% after inflation. This is a reduction in growth of 0.3% a year.
- The information on the reduction in investment growth can be used to compare the effect of charges with similar products.
